Duck hunters reminded of two mile limit

When duck season opens on October 21 there will not be the barrage around the Carmel River Mouth that last year sent residents looking for steel umbrellas to keep buckshot out of their hair.

These same residents have requested The Pine Cone to remind hunters of the two mile limit county ordinance, passed last year to protect the thickly populated areas that were left wide open to such attack by the abandonment of the game refuge.

The ordinance prohibits discharging firearms within two miles of the city limits of any incorporated city of 3,000 population or more. Carmel, by the new census, is well over 3,000. The two mile limit from the city limits on the south side provides a protected area along the coast to the north boundary of Point Lobos, eliminating the Carmel River Mouth and the river as a legal hunting area. Seaside lakes come within the two mile limits of Monterey, since East Monterey has been added to Monterey.

P. O. Clerks want you to write Congressman

Carmel post office clerks are participating in a nationwide campaign to get H. R. 87 out of committee. The bill provides credit for war service for clerks who entered the post office employ after their stint with the armed forces. Those who were post office employees before they enlisted or were drafted automatically got credit for war years when they returned to their jobs. H. R. 87 takes care of those who went into post office work for the first time after they were mustered out of the armed forces. Since wages are scaled according to the number of years the clerk has worked in the post office, credit for war years would mean a hundred or two hundred dollars more salary a year for them.

The Carmel clerks have asked The Pine Cone to pass on the word to its readers to write or wire their congressman urging that H. R. 87 get unstuck from the house rules committee. The letter or telegram should be attended to at once, the clerks urge, so that it can reach the congressman during the week of October 3—W. C.

Peninsula Group To Give Messiah Early In December

R. E. Manhire, choral director of Monterey schools, has announced that Handel's Messiah will be performed early in December by a choral group of 100 voices with accompaniment. The Presbyterian Church has offered the services of its choir to assist the Peninsula Choral Society, which is under the auspices of the Monterey Adult School, and the Monterey Peninsula College, sponsors of the program.

Double feature at Mrs. Glenn Clairmonte's current literature group of the Carmel Adult School last Tuesday evening: Fred Bechdolt and James Hopper, deans of Carmel writers, teamed up to discuss the life and works of Jack London. Zena Holman contributed to the meeting by reading two letters from George Sterling about London, and Matthew Glenday gave a spirited speech about London's fight for free speech. Bech and Jimmie were swamped at the close of the meeting since everybody present wanted to shake their hands.

No Use To Yell "Quiet Please" At Library Now

A visitor to the Harrison Memorial Library recently shouted at the top of his lungs to the man next to him, "Didn't anyone ever tell you that you were supposed to be quiet around a library?"

"What?" the man next to him yelled back.

The first man laughed and shrugged his shoulders while the second went back to fussing with a huge compressor which was roaring a duet with the jackhammer it operated.

Excavation began Monday on foundations for the new $38,000 library annex at the corner of Lincoln and Sixth street, and through Tuesday the patrons indoors could not hear a pin drop. Library attendance was reported sextupled—if one counted the crowd kibitzing around the gaping pit outside. Everybody evinced interest. Among those seen leaning on the safety fencing at one time were businessman P. A. McCreery, police officer "Andy" Del Monte, and artist George Koch.

A few yards away a massive motor crane with 40-foot boom was chewing mouthfuls of dirt out of the excavation next to the library's big bay window on Sixth street. The operator, C. L. Turley, seated in a glass enclosed cockpit happily swung the 3,300 pound clam bucket here and there from the end of the long boom with the nonchalance of a dandy swinging his watch fob.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The Pine Cone is fortunate to have a review of Helen Lane's Juliet by a Carmelite, Mrs. R. Ellis Roberts, visiting in Hollywood, where the Charles Laughton sponsored Romeo and Juliet is currently playing. Helen Lane when she was a Carmel resident played Juliet in the Forest Theater production.)

Miss Helen Lane's many admirers in Carmel—remembering the youthful and tragic beauty of her Juliet at the Forest Theater, the warm-hearted vulgarity of her Olive in The Voice of the Turtle and the pathos of her Mama Becker in Counsellor-at-Law (both at the Playhouse) will have realized that she has that versatility so necessary to a good actress, (in spite of Hollywood and its desire to "type" its stars.) But it is a different and far more difficult matter to give a different rendering of the same role. This Miss Lane achieves in her playing of Juliet for the Shakespearean production unit which has been studying with Charles Laughton and his producer, William Cottrell. This production unit is now giving Romeo and Juliet in the Herbert Wall Theater in Hollywood. Miss Lane shows unusual intelligence and pliability to direction in being able to merge her impulsive, high-spirited, self-willed, passionate, tragic Juliet of last year into the low-keyed tone of this production.

Rent Survey Sagging

The Carmel Realty Board's appeal to Carmel property owners to declare themselves on the question of the advisability of rent decontrol for this area has so far failed to produce the desired response. To date only two letters have reached the board, although hundreds of property owners are directly affected by rent control, points out the board's publicity chairman, Mrs. Reginald Le Mon.

The present survey, emphasizes Mrs. Le Mon, is an impartial study conducted by the realtors of Carmel to determine the actual need of control in this area. To accomplish this it is imperative to know how many rentable properties exist, how many would be built if decontrol were effected, and how many units were sold or removed from the local market because of controls.

Decontrol may be effected under local option provisions of the rent law only if 25 per cent vacancies in existing rental units can be proved, indicating a housing shortage no longer exists.

Mrs. Le Mon stated her belief that the poor response was partially due to many property owners' confidence that rent decontrol will be established permanently when the present rent law expires on June 30, 1950.

Discounting this possibility, she cited a statement recently made by Housing Expeditor Tighe E. Woods before a group of Chicago realtors, in which he expressed the opinion that federal rent control would not end in June when the (Continued on Page Sixteen)

Water Company To Present Case At Hearing Monday

Monterey Peninsula residents were notified by mail this week of the date of the public hearing when the California Water and Telephone Company will appeal for a 15 per cent raise in rates.

The hearing will be held by the State Public Utilities Commission in Few Memorial Hall of Records, Monterey, at 10:30 a. m., October 3.

Monterey Peninsula Chamber of Commerce has taken the initiative to organize opposition in Monterey and Pacific Grove, and will appeal to the three Peninsula cities to furnish funds for legal costs. About 15 civic and service organizations on the Peninsula have gone on record as being opposed to any increase in rates, among them the Carmel Business Association.

Carmel city council at an adjourned meeting on September 14 instructed the city attorney to appear at the hearing and protest, but in view of the Chamber of Commerce's project of hiring a rate engineer to assemble data and represent the three cities, the city council, in informal meeting, has decided to rescind the orders to the city attorney and make joint protest with Monterey and Pacific Grove.

CCAL FOOTBALL JAMBORREE FULL OF SURPRISES

Showing little semblance of expected form, the annual CCAL Football Jamboree, held at Salinas last Saturday night, provided several upsets to preconceived calculations. Little Boulder Creek started the evening of surprises by holding the 1948 champions, Gonzales, to a narrow 6-0 edge in the opening quarter of play. Pacific Grove provided the real shock of the jamboree when they lashed the highly-touted Hollister varsity, 13 to 0. The Breakers looked like the best football team in either the A or B league as they showed smooth play execution and good mastery of fundamentals. In Bosserman, Neves, Fugitt, Moss, and Castro, the Breakers appear to have the top backfield in the entire CCAL.

Santa Cruz jolted the Monterey Toreadors in the third heat, 6 to 0. The Toreadors miss the smashing power of their 1948 graduates and have a complete rebuilding job to perform. Watsonville, A league favorites, exuded plenty of confidence in their clash with Salinas and looked all out a good bet to cop the big school flag. Watsonville had whipped the fine Bellarmine varsity on Friday night which is a good tipoff on their ability.

CARMEL HIGH SCHOOL HAS SUCCESSFUL DEBUT; LASH PATTERSON, 26 TO 0

A come-through performance by the midget size Padre line was largely responsible for an upset 26-0 win over the widely heralded Patterson Tigers last Saturday afternoon. The visitors from the San Joaquin Valley league were favored to give the Red and Gray a good lesson in pigskin manipulation, but they reckoned without due consideration for Pierre Boutet, Syl Burger, Bill Daniels, and company. Hard tackling and blocking by these little 150 pounders took most of the starch out of the Tigers during the first half and it was just a question of too much Padre blocking during the second stanza.

Gaping holes were opened in the left side of the Patterson line and the red-clad Carmel backs poured through the openings for 15 to 20 yards per carry. Vicious handling of the tackle by Dick Weer, Carmel's All-League end, made the ball carrying chores seem simple. Legare McNeill, Padre's fastest back, racked up 209 yards on the ground, scoring two TDs and setting up two more. Legare exhibited a baffling change of pace and used his blockers to the fullest extent. Crisp blocking by Henry Overin and Jack Belangee, Padre fullbacks, paved the way for long jaunts around the Tiger flanks.

Carmel drove for three consecutive first downs after receiving the first kickoff but a fumble gave the hide to the alert Patterson and the visitors drove to Carmel's 15 yard stripe before surrendering the ball on down. From this point, Jim Hare, the Red and Gray's smooth quarterback, engineered an 85 yard march for a TD. Passes to Dick Weer and sweeps by McNeill did most of the damage to the Patterson defense, McNeill, scampering 14 yards for the score. With Hare again at the throttle in the second quarter, the Padres moved 55 yards for their second score. QB Jim sneaked over center for the second six-pointer.

Stu Emery took over for Hare in the second half when Jim was sent to the pits by a kick on the hip bone. Emery handled the T maneuvers like a veteran and steered the Padres to a brace of scores in the second half. Tom Handley raced 15 yards for tally number three while McNeill picked up 23 yards for the fourth six-pointer.

Although Carmel's backfield performed about as expected, it was the surprisingly fine performance turned in by Coach Craig's linemen which proved the big difference between the two teams. With three more practice games on the docket before league play starts, the Padres may come up with a forward wall which can match the giants from Hollister and Pacific Grove.

Playing for Carmel in last Saturday's opener were: Ends, Dick Weer, Frans Doelman, Neils Reimers, Chuck Grimshaw, and Frank Cleary; Tackles, Pete Berg, Pete Petruolas, Charles May, Chris Williams, Pierre Boutet, Mitchell Steenhoudt, and Thor Rasmussen. Guards, Bill Daniels, Syl Burger, and Howard Veit. Centers, Steve Whitaker and Don Canham. Quarterbacks, Jim Hare and Stu Emery. Halfbacks, Tom Handley, captain, Legare McNeill, and Henry Overin. Fullback, Jack Belangee.

LOBOS WIN OPENER

Monterey Peninsula College took their opener with Grant Tech on the home field Friday night, 26-0. About 5,000 happy homeowners saw the scuffle and went home with visions of future Lobos top heavy scores dancing in their heads. Tonight: Lobos take on College of Marin.

SAN JOSE TECH GRIDDERS TO TEST PADRES HERE THIS AFTERNOON

Competition of a sterner nature will be on deck for the Carmel High School football team this afternoon when the hefty San Jose Tech grid machine invades Bardarson Field to do battle with the Padre varsity. The mechanics boast a line averaging well over 180 pounds and can field four backs capable of negotiating the football field under 11 seconds. The comparatively small Padres haven't been called upon to face a forward wall as bulky as Tech's and will receive a severe test from the hard-hitting Tigers.

A repetition of the rugged blocking exhibited in the Patterson fracas should serve to spring some of the Padre speed backs and get them off winging in the San Jose secondary. The surprising performance of the watch charm Padre guards, Syl Burger and Bill Daniels, has given the green Carmel line a needed lift which could carry the local prep to a successful season. Tremendous improvement in the play of under-class linemen has indicated that some of the sophomores and juniors will be stepping into starting spots before the season is too far along. Thor Rasmussen, Pete Petruolas, Howard Veit, and Mitch Steenhoudt are definitely pushing for first string positions.

Return of Bob Updike, out with an ankle sprain last week, will bolster the Padre backfield which is suffering with the miseries. In today's tilt the red and gray backfield will be manned by a light scrappy quartet consisting of Jim Hare, Legare McNeill, Henry Overin, and Bob Updike. Hard-running Dick Weer has mastered one of the halfback spots and can shift from his end position if the occasion warrants. Up front, the Padres will start the same combination which faced Patterson. At the ends, Neils Reimers and Dick Weer; tackles, Pete Berg and Pierre Boutet; guards, Syl Burger and Bill Daniels; center, Steve Whitaker.

This afternoon's game will start at 3 o'clock.

Small and large printing orders are quickly filled at the Pine Cone Press, just phone Carmel 1.

GREEK JOURNALIST NEXT

The next meeting of Great Books members will be held in the Sunset School library, Monday, October 3, when the first year group gathers about the round table to discuss Plato's Dialogues.

Last Monday the second year group of 28 members met and reviewed Homer's Odyssey with Donald Craig and Dr. W. B. Williams as moderators. Its next meeting will come on Monday, October 10, at the Sunset library for a session with Herodotus' History, Books I and II. Visitors and new members from the entire Monterey Peninsula are invited to any of these meetings.

A Big Boost For Smitty!

Stepped into Smith's Department Store the other noon and saw the strangest thing. "Sis" Davis was coming up the stairs from the basement with a bundle of wash.

"Is Smitty taking in washipng these days?" I asked. "Not quite," she says. "He's just put in a new automatic washing machine, so the girls who work here can get their laundry done while they're eating lunch. Means more time to relax at night and on weekends."

I thought what a swell boss Smitty must be. Human relations between the boss and employees have certainly taken a big step forward during my lifetime.

From where I sit, people seem to be doing a better job of seeing our neighbor's viewpoint these days. Though his ideas and tastes may not be ours, we can understand his preference for a certain breakfast cereal, a favorite movie star, or for a temperate glass of beer or ale. That's the way it should be in a free country.

This picture was taken Thursday morning, September 22, at 11 o'clock, of the "controlled" brush burning on the Haldorn ranch down Carmel Valley. The whirlpool of smoke to the right, shows the change of wind that swept the fire out of control in two forks down the river and up over the ridge. Not until late that night and after many acres had been burned over, homes threatened and power poles destroyed, was the fire brought back into line.

Caro L. Hathaway

Funeral services were held in Palo Alto on September 27 for Caro L. Hathaway, widow of the late William L. Hathaway and a pioneer Carmel resident, who died at Palo Alto on September 25 after a prolonged illness.

Nee Caro Louise Patrina Sunderson Paulsen in Denmark in 1855, she came to this country at the age of six and lived in Wisconsin until the time of her marriage. Thereafter, she and her husband spent most of their lives in California. They came to Carmel in 1906 at the suggestion of the Harton family and spent their summers here until 1910, when they built one of the first private residences in Pebble Beach and made their home here.

Mr. Hathaway died in 1940 on his ranch near Crescent in British Columbia.

Mrs. Hathaway is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Louis Jefferys of Palo Alto, and Mrs. Marie Short of Carmel, and by five grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Wurzmann, Mrs. Hosack On M.A.C. Program

Members of the Musical Art Club and friends holding signed guest cards will gather at the Carmel Woman's Club at 8:15 on October 8 to hear the annual members' concert. Two local artists will appear in a program of piano and vocal music.

Marjorie Wurzmann, whose program before the Carmel Music Society last season caused much pleased comment, will be the pianist and will offer a varied program ranging from the classical Haydn to the modern Satie. Mrs. Wurzmann is a former pupil of Isidore Phillippe with whom she studied in Fontainebleau at the university established there by the French government for American students. During her European stay she also studied for two years with Marco Goldien in Vienna where she made her debut. During the war years she gave two programs a month for both the Monterey and Carmel USOs besides playing for the convalescent soldiers at Fort Ord Hospital. She has also appeared before the Musical Art Club many times.

Dan LeNoir Hosack is to be the other artist member to appear in the concert. Mrs. Hosack's mezzo-soprano voice recently delighted a Pacific Grove audience when she gave a concert for St. Mary's Episcopal parish. She has been guest artist with the local symphony, is the regular soloist at St. Mary's church, and has appeared in concert for the Musical Art Club before. Mrs. Hosack came from Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, and did a series of Gilbert and Sullivan there under the direction of Harvey Gaul. She was active in the musical life of that city doing both solo and choral work.

The Musical Art Club has been inactive for three summer months.

Carmel's Helen Lane Now In Hollywood

(Continued from Page One) and this at a time when the theater, as well as the movies, in Hollywood, are at an all time low may well rejoice the hearts of Helen Lane's fellow Carmelites. For, though she is a native of Montana, Helen Lane feels herself a Carmelite as well, and has been happily associated for several years with many local activities, in which she was always successful and beloved. She now acts under the stage name of Maura Murphy, a family name in both her father and mother's immediate ancestry.

This production of Romeo and Juliet was particularly interesting and unusual in that it gave its audience an almost uncut version of the play. It is true that this play, for a modern audience, bears cutting better than many of Shakespeare's, because the young blades of Verona express their high spirits in verbal ingenuities based on the then fashionable book "Eu-phues" which is no longer read. Yet the fashion at least required mental ingenuity and fancy—will the Freudian jargon of our own young people stand up as well after three hundred and fifty years?

And why should a generation that can bear the dull beastliness of the language of some modern war plays and movies, or of such a play as Sartre's "The Respectful Prostitute," (just produced by the Circle Theater in Hollywood) object to the bawdy of Mercutio and Juliet's nurse, which springs from high spirits or remembered high spirits and is in character and a revelation of character? It was unalloyed delight to have the whole of Friar Laurence and to have the play end, as it should, with the belated repentance that is the sole consolation for the tragic waste of young life and love and is the meaning of the play.

Three plays have fairly recently been produced almost uncut, Peer Gynt, Hamlet and now this production of Romeo and Juliet. In every case the author seems to have known what he was about and what effect he wanted to produce.

Richard Kroth graduated from Cooper Union, studied at the National Academy, New York City, and at the Chicago Art Institute. He received the Sydman Medal for draughtsmanship at the National Academy. He has traveled and studied in France, Italy, Switzerland and Germany. He has had four one man shows in New York City. Exhibitions have been given at the Staten Island Museum, Bryn Mawr Art Center, and last year he exhibited at the Crocker Art Gallery in Sacramento, the Frances Webb Galleries in Los Angeles and in Carmel at Frisbie's Furniture Store. He was president of the Staten Island Art Association in 1943 and 1944.

In early October, prior to his visit to Carmel, Mr. Kroth will exhibit in Sacramento, and be one of the main speakers at the Goethe celebration sponsored by and financially supported by the city council of Sacramento.

This lecture of Mr. Kroth is the second event presented by the Rudolf Steiner Study Group of Carmel in recognition of the Goethe year. Arrangements are in charge of Mrs. Perry Newberry, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. McCracken, Mr. and Mrs. Boris Veren, and Elizabeth Graves.

Completion of the annex is scheduled for February 22. Approximately 2800 additional square feet of space will be available for stacking and a children's reading room. Architecture will follow the original design except for the children's room which will be lined with acoustic tile and have ceilings with built-in lighting.

Financed principally by the city's $35,000 bond issue the approximately $3,000 remainder will be absorbed by building funds already on hand. The original construction estimate was $40,000, according to Robert Jones, AIC, architects. The total cost includes a complete new forced air heating installation system and new lighting system for the whole building.

The World's Great Religions

These lectures are presented with the conviction that a knowledge and understanding of the background and teachings of the founders of the great religious movements, which have had such a profound influence on the history of civilization, will help in achieving the breadth of outlook and unity necessary to develop a true universal consciousness and world society.

Police Desk . . .

By Parker Kimball

The other day while we were leaning on the CPD desk noting who had done what to whom, we noticed Chief Roy Fraties toying with a magnifying glass only slightly smaller than the business end of the Mt. Wilson Observatory scope. As police news was scarce we wondered if we couldn't magnify this glass into a story—and darned if we didn't.

Seems the other morning Chief Fraties was outside perusing a hot car for fingerprints with a dollar-sized glass which was all the PD owned at the time. As he peered laboriously from smudge to smudge a passer-by stopped and stood watching. After a few minutes of ogling proceedings, the fellow walked on again. Later that afternoon, however, the same fellow came in the CPD with a package which he deposited in Chief Fraties' hands. It turned out to be a fine Bauch and Lomb glass almost large enough to view an entire car at one glance. Chief Fraties is sincerely grateful for this gesture which will speed up investigating and cut down his squinting immensely.

A woman called the night desk to report a man having trouble backing out of her driveway. When the officer arrived he found this was no exaggeration and thought he could smell the reason why. Obviously lost in a whiskey fog the driver had backed into two oak trees, torn up a rock wall, knocked down a post, and was by then stuck safely in the soft soil of a garden. A check of the gentleman's operator's license revealed one restriction in its use. He must wear glasses while driving. Police booked him, explaining that adequate glasses did not mean the highball variety.

Officer Wermuth investigated a call from another woman whose dog was barking at a mysterious object under a brushpile in her yard. The dog would crawl under, bark, then back frantically away. The officer pushed the dog aside and got down to look with a flashlight. And, well, well, what do you think he found? Nothing. We hope no one is too let down by this. Just think of all the things it might have been. Officer Wermuth thinks it was probably a coon. He's pretty sure it wasn't a skunk.

Old timers tell how in Carmel's early day houses were never locked and hospitality was of the real western stuff. We would like to recount this to a recent visitor here—just to hear his comments. Friends invited him down from the city for a weekend, arming him with a complete description of their house. The next thing they heard he was at the CPD with a badly bungled-up face. It developed that despite his explicit instructions, he had walked into the wrong house. He had wandered through the rooms shouting his hosts' name until a complete stranger showed up, gave him a lecture on housebreaking and clapped him on the jaw prior to bouncing him into the street. Which may indicate that our famous Carmel hospitality isn't all it used to be.

We repeat you never can tell where to expect the CPD next. A few days ago two apparently teenage adults walked into a local establishment and one asked for a beer. It so happened (says the PD report) that Officer Jones at that moment was buying a package of cigarettes. Officer Jones remarked casually that such a purchase might lead directly to the police station. This insulted the customer who pulled out a registration card uncontestedly proving his legal right to a brew. Not to be outbluffed, Officer Jones remarked that a talk with the fellow's draft board might prove interesting. This seemed to have a remarkable rejuvenating effect. Two years dropped away just like that. However the beer already had been served (on the strength of the proof.) Shortly afterwards Officer Jones' prediction came true—which leads us to wonder if there

TO TALK ON GHOST STORIES
There will be no meeting of the current literature group of the Carmel Adult School next Tuesday, October 4, in view of the fact that most of the members will be attending the concert to be given in Sunset Auditorium that evening by Kirsten Flagstad. Mrs. Glenn Clairmonte announces that the guest speaker for the following week, October 11, will be Alec Merivale on the subject of Famous Ghost Stories.

NEW CAPITAL IS REQUIRED TO EXPAND YOUR WATER SYSTEM

As a resident of this community it is important to you that the system which provides you with water be kept in a sound and healthy condition . . . be allowed to earn a net income satisfactory to investors in order to attract new capital for expansion purposes.

Between December 31, 1940, and the end of June, 1949, investment in the Monterey Peninsula plant has grown from $2,913,000 to $6,010,000, and substantially all of this money was acquired through the sale of company securities. To serve this growing community adequately plant additions must be constantly made . . . new capital must be continually acquired. From the figures presented below you will see how investment in plant has been rising during the past eight and a half years. You will also see how net operating income has been declining. A declining net income is not attractive to investors.

Since the water system of the Monterey Peninsula must be improved and enlarged continually to meet ever growing needs, money must be provided for the purchase and installation of new equipment. Money for expansion does not come from water bills . . . it comes as new capital from people who have savings to invest. To attract investors a business must be able to offer a fair return, a reasonable rental, for the money they invest in its securities. Today we cannot offer such a fair return . . . simply because our operating income is too low to provide it. Service rates high enough to offset the rising costs of operation are required to produce earnings that will be satisfactory to investors. There has been no increase in water rates in this district for more than a quarter of a century . . . the only change being in 1937 when there was a reduction. We have applied to the Public Utilities Commission of the State of California for permission to increase rates and it is important to all who are interested in the present welfare and the future development of this community that permission be granted as soon as possible.

Do You Remember . . . ?

THE QUARTER, 1910

By A. G. WARSHAWSKY

Just then to my surprise I received a letter from Henry Mathes, telling me he had arrived in Paris, where he hoped to study for a year. He had given up a profitable career as an illustrator for the doubtful one of painter. I answered, advising him to join me at Vernon, where he could do some sketching, after which we would return to Paris, where I might help him to settle down. He gladly accepted my proposal, for the first impact with Paris, the new life, language, and school of painting, had so dazed him, that he had been thrown off his balance. He wanted to rest his mind and get his bearings. The broad Seine, which is at its loveliest at Vernon, and the wide river valley, filled him with enthusiasm, and so did the generous fare at the Soleil d'Or. Never had I seen mortal dispatch food in such quantities!

When he joined our sketching party, I noticed that his palette, compared with ours, looked black and sombre; but he soon remedied that. As for the sketches I was painting, he did not know what to make of them, and told me frankly that he thought them wild. I could not help wondering what he would have said about some of the works shown at the Salon d'Automne. Mathes told me that New York was still a stranger to the newer painting, and so I gathered from his wholesale condemnation of all that he had seen since his arrival in France. In his opinion, the painters of the new school were all fakers and crazy. In spite of my having written him about the new tendencies in art, he received quite a shock when he found himself face to face with what they had produced. Nevertheless, he started out to experiment with pure color in his studies from nature, and within a very short time his enthusiasm for the new method had capped ours.

Mathes, who was a very clever draughtsman, in his experiments never went into distortion of form, but clinging to the phenomena of color and light. Even some of the first things he did at Vernon, with little pure points of color, quite in the manner of Seurat and Signac, turned out very interesting.

Halpert intended staying another month at Vernon, but Mathes and I, who had talked over the Brittany idea, which I was anxious to realize while my finances still held out, decided to return to Paris for a week to obtain more definite information regarding the land of our desire. So, with Frost's approval, we both established ourselves in the former's studio.

We found the quarter in its annual throes of preparing for the Qat'z-Arts ball. This yearly revel of the Four Arts, which enjoys a worldwide reputation, falls in the early weeks of June. For the world of Bohemia it is what the Grand Prix is to the world of Tout Paris—the Big Event.

Only students attending the recognized art schools, or bona fide artists are supposed to attend this ball, although, in fact, a certain latitude is allowed for strangers, provided they are sponsored by some atelier. Every male participant is allowed to bring a female partner, who has free entrance. The rules on costume are very strict, and failure to comply with them means being unceremoniously chucked out by the jury which presides at the door. All costumes, however fanciful, must be in keeping with the prescribed period, which varies from year to year. In that year, 1910, the ball was to evoke The entrance of the Persians into Athens, so there was a choice between Greek and Persian dress.

For days before the event takes place, artists are busy decorating the huge hall, painting, building, transforming. The results obtained have to be seen to be believed. On this occasion there were temples, streets, prows of battleships, colonnades, with the most surprisingly elaborate evocations of what may be politely termed the Cult of Eros in all conceivable manifestations. Some of these erotic symbols were in the shape of huge

REMINISCENT

*The moon looks calmly through the window-pane,
The wind creeps softly through the sleeping trees.
The stars suspend like drops of waiting rain,
The world rolls on in quest of its surcease.
She sits beside her open door and counts
The minutes as they come and hurry by;
And with each passing moment vision mounts
Some added scene for memory to vie.*

*The years have changed the beauty of her hair,
And sorrow etched its never-fading lines;
But through it all she took the ill and fair,
And wove them into eminent designs.
So now she waits in confidence, serene,
And adds a smile to each recurring scene.*

—JACK GREENHILL.

SONG FOR SEPTEMBER

*The breezes whisper minor tunes
When somber fall is in the air.
Mourning not-forgotten Junes,
The breezes whisper minor tunes.
Wandering through deserted dunes,
Sighing, seeking for us there,
The breezes whisper minor tunes
When somber fall is in the air.*

THE CHILDREN AND THE TEACHERS TASK

*They come to us, to learn of ways to live
Anew, afairne, in mind, in heart, in soul,
In eager trust and faith they seek a goal,
Our time, our prayer is all we have to give.
Give us the grace of true and worthy friends,
They are not clay for us to shape or mould,
We can but watch the lovely bud unfold,
To give its life to life until time's end.
Soon they will be the nation's heart and mind;
Will they have learned to span these human ills
To plumb their depths, to guide these human wills
Yet have no fear of any truth they find?
To lead the young to think, to understand,
This is the teacher's task in every land.*

—CONRAD JACOBSON.

moving figures, performing very amusing stunts. During the night there were various interludes, such as a beauty competition for female models, shown aloft in puris naturalibus and acclaimed below by the shouting crowd, and at midnight a grand procession — triumphal cars, chariots, mythological beasts, litter of unveiled beauties born by slaves, proceeding amid a deafening din which continued crescendo throughout the night. I still recall, as in a hazy vision, the amazing spectacle of the dawn light flitting in through the dust and smoke of smouldering torches, when all was wrack and ruin, and broken glass, among which more or less nude bodies had sunk to rest and oblivion, while pale-faced tiremen and guardians of the peace stood stolidly surveying the scene, as if to see that things did not go too far!

Then in the early hours of the summer morning came the march home from Montmartre right across Paris to the Latin Quarter—an even more incredible spectacle — resembling, for all the world, the triumphal raid of a savage horde through a captured city. Half-naked figures mounted on cab horses, brandishing spears as outriders for a load of howling lunatics in the vehicles, some even perched on the carriage-tops, led the vanguard of this wild mob, which, as it descended towards the center, swept the streets clear of every object it could lay hands on—dustbins, shop-signs, milk cans, etc. In front of the Opera, while a frenzied farandole was enacted up and down the monumental steps, uncouth figures could be seen climbing up the statues of the facade, unheeding the friendly remonstrances of the policemen who accompanied our march. And when we reached the fountain at the lower end of the great avenue, on the Place de la Comedie Francaise, more than one grimy hoodlum plunged in for his morning ablutions. I shall never forget the expressions of startled horror and bewilderment on the faces of two elderly English ladies, driving off to catch an early train, as our cab-load, with Arthur Frost astride the horse, and waving a spear, met them under the arches of the Louvre.

One day at the Dome, Renee Duchamp, a little model who had once posed for me, asked where I intended spending the summer. On my telling her that I was hoping to get to some place in Brittany, she informed me that she and her artist friend were going to St. Jean-du-Doigt, Finisterre, on the northwest coast of Brittany, a lovely spot, unfrequented except by a few painters. There was a little hotel, where for three francs a day excellent food and lodging were provided. They were leaving that night, and if Mathes and I would join them, she offered to reserve rooms for us. It all sounded so tempting, that we accepted then and there. Our preparations were quickly made, and the following evening we embarked for our all night trip to Brittany.

Arriving at Morlaix the next morning, we took the diligence for St. Jean-du-Doigt, in which a few peasant women, wearing their picturesque white coiffes, were already installed. It was a two hours' trip over winding picturesque roads, flanked by shaggy hills, gay with patches of purple heather and golden gorse. Though the country through which we passed was lonely and silent, there was no feeling of desolation or oppression. Here and there were whitewashed stone cottages with thatched roofs. Groups of tow-haired, blue-eyed youngsters playing about their doors would gaze with awe at the passing diligence and our paraphernalia piled on its roof.

Sometimes we would pass a roughly clad countryman or a shepherd doffing his hat to the driver, who in response to his greeting would snap his long whip. Occasionally at some wayside inn—called "buvette" or "debit" in these parts, a withered branch hanging over the door signifying that there was a license to sell drink—a brief halt would be called to breathe the horses. We joined the driver at one of these pubs and, following his example, ordered a bowl of cider.

business meeting Mrs. Jordan's seventh grade will furnish a program of music under the direction of Mr. Holman. Susan Harney and Patricia Doolittle will play a duet. There will be a flute trio by Sarah McCloud, Julie Work and Priscilla Clark. And there will be several songs by the whole class.

Mr. Holman has formed a band consisting of 14 students. They are Jeanne Fratessa, Cynthia Blum, Georgiana Rawlings, Pat Grimshaw, Billy Beard, Millard Martin, Don Sipes, Jimmy Konrad, Paul Fratessa, Tommy Petty, Priscilla Clark, Sarah McCloud and Julie Work. Mr. Holman teaches music to the fifth, sixth, and seventh grades. And that includes all the music news for now.

Karen Johnson, an "old-timer" at Sunset, reports on art.

We have a new art teacher this year. His name is Mr. Castagnetto. Our last year's teacher, Mrs. Rea, is now teaching a sixth grade. Mr. Castagnetto teaches the fourth through seventh grades. Each class is divided so that one-half goes to art and the other to shop. There is an average of 15 children going to art at the same time. We have classes twice a week.

Some of the things we do in art are lettering, finger-painting, dry brush, water color and designing. Mr. Castagnetto plans to teach us the elements of design in relation to color and form, construction and third dimension through wood carving, clay, paper, and wire sculpture. We will also learn composition of still life or landscapes. We are going to have special art again this year. This will be for children who are very interested in art.

CASTING FOR HARTNELL PLAY

Miss Vivian Stewart of Carmel, director of vocal music at Hartnell College, announced this week that the musical play, The Hither and Thither of Danny Dither will be presented at the college December 1 and 2.

Casting for the production is being done at the college this week with most of the parts being filled from the vocal music classes which have had a record enrollment. The college choir has more than 50 voices and the women's glee club more than 30 voices.

Scenery for the production will be produced by the art department.

"THE FRIENDLIEST PLACE IN TOWN"

The Time Has Come . . .

By Kippy Stuart

The delphinium in my garden are acting like crazy. They should have gone to sleep several weeks ago, but on they go, blooming their heads off. Stalks six and seven feet tall carry regal plumes of blue, white or lavender. It upsets me when my garden insists in invading a season which does not belong to the plants that must be moved. Delphinium are exceedingly easy to grow. A good spray once or twice a season will ward off mildew and aphids, and how delphinium does multiply. One plant two years old can be chopped into four plants for the next spring. Yes, "chopped" is the word I mean. Sounds drastic, but it works. The two year old plants have a massed root about the size of a dinner plate. Just take a hatchet and chop the old plant into four smaller ones. Heel in delphinium for the winter, and next spring, there you are, with your summer garden.

It is the time to plant stock and snapdragon. The earth must all be turned and fed nourishment. This time of year cow manure is the best fertilizer. Make the beds soft and fluffy and put in the young plants. If stock can get its root system well established before the rains come, you can be assured of abundant bloom later in the year. Stock does not like wet feet; that is, the young plants resent too much water. You have seen stock turn yellow and sick looking; that is usually too much water in the beginning. Be sure you get the bedding plants when they are small; if new plants remain too long in the flat they do not give good returns.

Snapdragon is beginning to be one of the supports of the winter garden. New varieties are coming along all the time, and the rust-proof ones are best to experiment with. Every gardener has to learn his soil, locality and temperament of plants. What will grow in your garden might not thrive across the street. Both stock and snapdragon need sun and nourishment and they will do very well planted adjacent to each other.

A neat trick is to plant your bulbs in September and October. Place small sticks to indicate position of bulbs. Then over the bulbs scatter summer-blooming seeds. Godetia, baby-blue eyes, viscaria, Virginia stock, or clarkia. When the spires of the bulbs begin to brown and die back, these summer seeds will take over; hide the dying bulbs and bring color to the spot. Bulbs cannot be cut back; they must die back all by themselves.

Watch fuchsias for white fly. If properly taken care of fuchsias will thrive for many weeks yet and will bloom right on until their pruning season comes around. Pruning of fuchsias is best in January or February. This, because the new growth starts in March, so why cut back bushes now that will go through the winter bringing color? Some time within the next few months, give fuchsia a good dressing of cow manure. Make depressions at root of plants and fill in with manure. All the fancy fertilizers on the market can not touch manure for basic plant health.

Stage Door Cast Is Now Complete

Casting is now complete for Stage Door, a Forest Theater Guild play which will be presented as a benefit for the Community Chest on October 27, 28, 29, at Sunset School Auditorium.

Women leads will be played by Evelyn Bolster and Mary Calouri, men leads by Murray Klater and Ken MacDougall. Others in the cast include: Katherine Winslow, Meribeth Davis, Barbara Stitt, Nancy Dassonville, Madeline Reed, Ivy Lauer, Lee Miles, Yvonne Gardiner, Joan Daniels, Virginia Ward, Nancy Brown, Dee Sharpe, Margot Campbell, Connie Campbell, Helen Prosser, Bruce Hangar, Sr., Steve Crouch, John J. Walsh, Dorothy Black, Pop Smith, Nancy McGill, Charles Killian, Frances Bufkin, Chuck Stover, J. B. Campbell and Ruth Allerhand.

Stage Door will be directed by Forrest Barnes, who directed Claudia, and will have as his assistant director, Elizabeth Fogel. Rehearsals are now under way for the Ferber and Kaufman comedy-drama.

Lyons-Neel Wedding

On September 16, Peggy Jo Lyons became the bride of Lieutenant Walter Neel of the Navy General Line School. The evening ceremony was performed at St. John's Chapel at Del Monte.

For her wedding the bride wore a white gabardine suit and a white brocade beret. Her corsage was of white and green orchids. Doris Hill, her only attendant, wore a tangerine suit with brown accessories and a corsage of brown orchids. Lieutenant J. M. Scarborough was the best man.

The new Mrs. Neel is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John H. Lyons of Pasadena, who were present to witness the marriage.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore W. Neel of Honolulu.

As long as Lieutenant Neel is stationed at the General Line School, the couple will make their home in Carmel.

Mrs. Stofer East

The start of a leisurely trip east was made last week by Mrs. D. D. Stofer and her youngest daughter, Allison, who headed by auto for Kansas City by way of the Grand Canyon and Santa Fe, New Mexico.

In Kansas City they'll meet Mr. and Mrs. Ben Page and travel with them from that point on, visiting New York, Rhode Island; Boston and environs, and other portions of New England. They expect to be gone at least a month.

Son for Charles Pearson

If you've been hit by any flying buttons around town this week, they are probably from the vest of Dr. Charles N. Pearson, whose wife presented him with a son on September 14. Charles N. Pearson, Jr., is the lad's name, and he was born at the Monterey Hospital, tipping the scales at eight pounds and eight ounces.

The new arrival has one sister, Barbara Jeanne, who will be 15 months old next Monday. His grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Teschke of Carmel, former residents of South Bend, Indiana. Barbara Ann Teschke, also of Carmel, is his aunt.

Chest Captains Entertained

Albert M. Lester, chairman of the residential area for the Community Chest Drive, entertained his assistant residential area captains at a tea at Hotel La Playa yesterday afternoon. Special guests were Alfred G. Fry, Mrs. Gladys Johnston, and Mrs. Marian Todd, secretary of the Chest, who briefed the volunteers on their work.

More than a hundred volunteer workers, under the leadership of the area captains, will start out on Monday morning to raise this community's share (40%) of the total for the Monterey Peninsula, which is $72,000. Funds from the Community Chest will this year give aid to 21 agencies.

Carmel area captains who were Mr. Lester's guests were Messedames James Redhead, Floyd Harber, Robert Vallon, Virginia Carr, James Hatlo, Thomas Perry, Howell Armor, W. A. Satchell, Lawrence Melrose, Jon Konigshofer, G. Ridgley Parker, Anthony Marino, Robert A. Doolittle, E. P. McMurtry, Helen Lial, John Martin, Mark Raggett and Paul H. Riebe.

D. A. R. Dinner

Commodore Sloat Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, held a dinner meeting at the Normandy Inn Tuesday evening. This was the first meeting following a two months' summer recess.

Mrs. Marcia F. De Voe, junior past regent, opened the meeting and presented Mrs. Mace Pewtherer to the chaplain, Miss Sue Estelle Tuck, for installation as the new regent. Other officers were installed at the June meeting in Monterey. Miss Tuck then presented Marcia De Voe with her D. A. R. pin in recognition of the successful year under her leadership.

The guest speaker for the evening was Arthur Hull, principal of Sunset School. He discussed the function of the Reserved Army Officers' group. The reserved complements of service men are endeavoring to keep up with all of the modern developments, keep in training for any emergency, and have a definite program to meet national requirements, he said. Mr. Hull was a draftee, receiving his commission at OCS and serving two and a half years overseas. He holds a commission in the reserve corps and is an active member of the army reserve at Ft. Ord.

Mrs. Pewtherer announced that any visitors are welcome to attend the local chapter meetings which are held every third Tuesday.

Members present were Mrs. Roy W. Frisbee, Mrs. Mace Pewtherer, Mrs. Marcia F. De Voe, Mrs. Elsie Moore Young, Mrs. Wm. T. Moore, Mrs. A. H. Voorhis, Miss Elizabeth Merrill, Miss Sue Estelle Tuck, and Miss Genevieve Reed.

Guests were Mrs. Arthur R. Johnson, Mrs. L. B. Hallowell, Mrs. D. P. Germaine, Mrs. Alfred G. Fry, and Miss Louise Oliver.

The first meeting of the Salinas Fine Arts club heard a talk on color by Carmel Artist Hoyland Bettinger Wednesday night. The club, one of the Salinas YMCA hobby projects, is making plans for an All-Salinas arts exhibit.

Students must have the BEST LIGHTING in your home!

Guard against eyestrain in your home with better lighting. Steady eye use for studying and reading can be the principal cause of hot, inflamed eyes—the warning symptom of eyestrain. For the study desks and reading zones in your home make sure that the lighting is bright enough for easy seeing and is free from glare and immediate shadow. Do as thousands of families are doing now—conduct a fall lighting check-up in your home. Fill empty sockets with right-size bulbs, replace old, blackened bulbs and make sure you have a supply of spare lamps of proper wattage.

Tea for AAUW

More than a hundred members and prospective members enjoyed a welcoming tea held last Saturday afternoon by the American Association of University Women at the Carmel Woman's Club.

Mrs. Norman Naas, president of the local branch, and Mrs. Douglas Martz, vice president and membership chairman, received the guests at the door. They were assisted by Mrs. J. O. Tostevin and Miss Marie Schatz, who registered each prospective member. Mrs. Clyde Barkel and Mrs. Ralph Martineau presented each person with an identification card and pinned a beautiful begonia blossom on each guest.

For this "Get-acquainted" affair the club was gaily decorated with flowers in autumn hues. Three large bowls of yellow, orange and red zinnias formed the centerpieces for the three tea tables. Pale green lace tablecloths and yellow candles formed an attractive background for the flowers used for the occasion.

Mrs. Jerry Girdner, Mrs. Stuart Mitchell, Mrs. Orville Rodgers and Mrs. Harold Davis poured tea.

Mrs. Gordon Beall, general chairman for the beautifully appointed affair, was assisted by members of the executive board acting as hostesses.

Music Society Election

The Carmel Music Society met at the home of B. Franklin Dixon on September 19 for the purpose of electing new officers and planning a membership drive.

Officers who were elected for the coming year are B. Franklin Dixon, president; Miss Hazel Watrous, first vice president; Peter Ferrante, second vice president; Dr. Howard Clark, third vice president; Mrs. Carl S. Rohr, recording secretary; Mrs. Robinson Jeffers, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Horace Dormody, treasurer.

McBrides Here Briefly

Mr. and Mrs. Euclid W. McBride of Greenwich, Conn., were in Pasadena recently for the wedding of their youngest daughter, Anne, to Malcolm McLaine. Following the event, the McBrides came up to Carmel for a two week stay in their stone house on the Point and left on Thursday to return to their home in Connecticut.

At Harvard-Stanford Game

Among Carmelites who witnessed the disappointingly one-sided Harvard-Stanford game last Saturday were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Smith, Mrs. Estelle Holt, John Todd and Jack Morris.

The group drove up to Los Altos in time for luncheon at the Albert Henleys before going on to Palo Alto, and in spite of the dull sports display, seem to have enjoyed themselves thoroughly.

AAUW Arts and Crafts

The Arts and Crafts Section of the American Association of University Women will hold its first meeting of the year on Saturday, October 1, at 2:30 p. m., to plan activities for the coming year.

New members are especially invited to attend the meeting, which will be held at the home of Mrs. Richard Schuman, 1206 Soledad Drive (above Paraiso) in Monterey—phone Monterey 3695.

This is the girl to call or see when you want a telephone moved, a directory listing—have any service questions.

Meet a girl who knows the answers

1. She's a "Service Representative" . . . your personal representative in your telephone Business Office. Every one of our millions of customers in the West is served by a particular young lady. In the files of your own "Service Rep" are facts about your service. With this finger-tip information, she can answer questions promptly . . . and help us meet your needs.

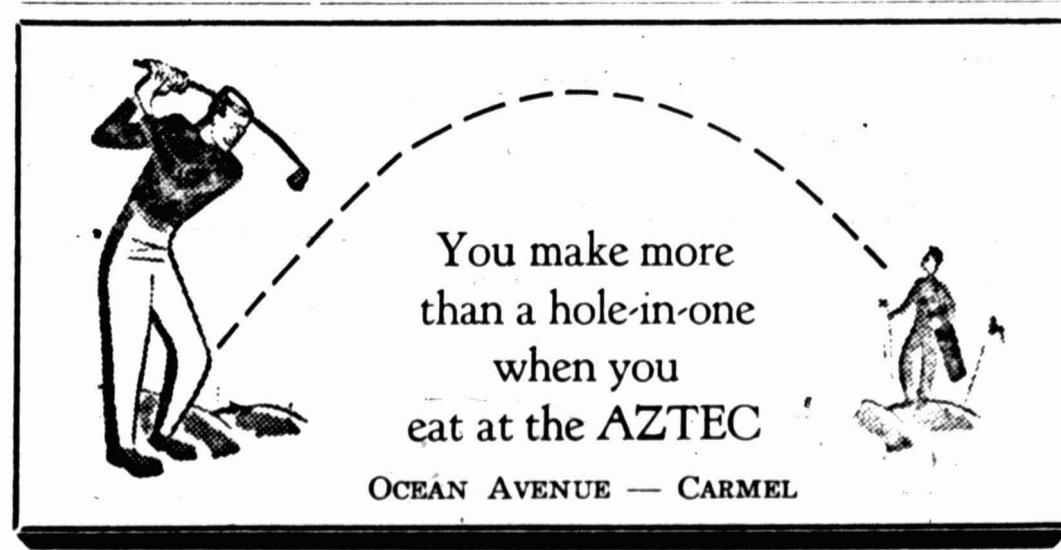

3. It has taken many, many people . . . scientists, manufacturer, linemen, operators, Service Representatives, repairmen . . . to build your telephone into the valuable servant it is today. And they're working to make it still more valuable . . . to keep your telephone a real bargain today. And it is. After all, a few pennies still buy a call.

2. Her training is the kind that never really stops. For a Service Representative must know the ins and outs of the telephone business to serve you best when you are changing your address, when you need information about a bill, when you have a complaint. Pine NeedlesWm. Hudsons Return

Mr. and Mrs. William Hudson and their children, William, Jr., and Sidney, returned to the Peninsula last weekend after a four-month trip to Europe.

After leaving Paris, which was their first destination, the Hudsons traveled to Italy, where they took a house in Zoagli, on the Italian Riviera, for two months. They traveled through Italy, visiting Venice, Florence, and other historic cities, taking a keen interest in all they saw. Mrs. Hudson says the children loved Italy as much as they did, and that the whole journey, including the time spent in France, was a most enjoyable holiday.

They returned to Paris and thence to the United States, where William, Jr., left them to return to St. Paul's in Concord, N. H. Sidney has returned to Dominican College to continue her studies there.

P-TA Food Sale

The Carmel Parent-Teachers Association is reviving its justly famous annual food sale, which has been noted for its variety of delicious cakes, jams, salads, rolls, etc., at the insistence of those who recall its wide appeal.

It will be held Friday, October 7, starting at 9:00 p. m., at Purity Market, Mission and Sixth streets.

Chairman for the sale is Mrs. James Pruitt, who will be assisted by her co-chairman, Mrs. Herbert Blanks and Mesdames Paul Chester, Stanley K. Bishop, David Hagemeyer, John Campbell, Vern Henderson, W. W. Dufur and Eugene Harrah.

Proceeds from the sale will be used for the Student Program, of which a large part will be delegated to the Health Program.

Diberts Say Goodbye

Carmel will lose one of its most popular families when Pat and Paul Dibert and their two youngsters move to Redwood City, where Mr. Dibert will head the Chrysler automobile agency. They'll be back as often as possible, of course, especially to visit Pat's mother, Mrs. Barbara Murphy.

To wish them farewell, a cocktail party and buffet supper was given Sunday evening by Mr. and Mrs. V. C. Osmont, Jr., whose other guests were Commander and Mrs. Ray Whitby, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Farr.

Coast for Carol Card

Carol Card, a frequent contributor to The Pine Cone, has moved down the coast and is living on the old Murray place near Rocky Creek, over the divide from Palo Colorado. The Murrays were among the earliest settlers of Palo Colorado and built their house to look to the sea down the canyon to the ocean behind, and Carol finds the secluded beauty of the place a constant inspiration.

With the help of a reluctant cat, Carol has been doing battle with dust, mice and rats, and is gradually renovating the old house. In her spare time she gathers wood for Moloch, her fierce iron stove.

For friends who wish to get in touch with her, her address is Care of Rounds, Coast Route, Monterey.

Alderman-Conlon Trek

Colin Alderman returned last week from a three week stay near Lake Tahoe with Dr. Francis Conlan, at whose cabin the pair made their headquarters. Fishing and hunting took them up to Wright's Lake and Twin Lakes, where they did very well indeed, and hunger for the bright lights took them to Reno, where they didn't do so well but had a good time.

While Colin was in the wilds, Mrs. Dwight Gray came down from San Francisco to occupy his house, Dr. Gray joining her on weekends to assist in the feeding of some 16 pet birds left in their care.

News of Mohlers

Charles (Chuck) Mohler and his wife, Hazel Dale Mohler, have been writing to their Carmel friends about their literary adventures in the east. Having spent the summer in Provincetown in a tide-swept cottage formerly occupied by Eugene O'Neil, they are now in New York City. There Hazel has taken a position as editorial assistant on the staff of Collier's Magazine temporarily, while waiting for her publisher's decision about her novel manuscript.

Chuck sold Story Magazine a story entitled Fusion, which will be included in a volume to be published by E. P. Dutton & Co. He has been engaged by Harper & Bros. to travel through the southwest as their representative, calling on University professors to present Harper text books. Hazel will travel with him through the winter, and they plan to drive up to Carmel for a visit, probably at Christmas time.

They already have reservations on the SS New Amsterdam for the trip they plan to Europe next summer.

Dick Moore in Hawaii

Marine Private First Class Richard B. Moore, son of Mrs. James Burgess, has reported at Pearl Harbor for duty aboard the USS Manchester, a light cruiser, in the Pacific.

A graduate of Carmel High in the class of 1947, Dick won a letter in football during his sports career there. Before joining the Marine Corps in October, 1948, he was employed by Vining's Meat Market and later by Everett Smith as a tree surgeon.

Pine Needles . . .Lockwood-Torras Wedding

Before an altar covered with white stock and graced by gardeia bedecked candles, Howard Lockwood and Willette Torras exchanged wedding vows on Saturday afternoon at the Church of the Wayfarer. The ceremony was performed by Dr. K. Fillmore Gray, and Willette was given in marriage by her father, Vincent A. Torras.

The lovely, dark haired bride wore a simple white marquise gown styled on old fashioned lines, with a tight fitting bodice and full, billowing skirt, the sole ornamentation being a beautiful old Scotch brooch which has been in her family for 150 years. Her fingertip length veil was held in place by a filet of seed pearls, and she carried a shower bouquet of white stephanotis and lily of the valley.

Her only attendant, Mrs. Dale Vandervort, wore a frock of soft yellow dotted swiss with a matching hat and carried a bouquet of yellow sweetheart roses.

The Torras home was beautifully decorated with masses of flowers for the reception which followed the wedding. There friends and relatives wished the newlyweds happiness and watched them cut the three-tiered pink and white wedding cake.

The bride is a graduate of Carmel High School. She has one sister, Mrs. Donald Morton, and a brother, Vincent Andrew Torras.

Howard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel K. Lockwood, former Carmel residents who now live in Seaside, and the brother of Clarence Lockwood, Al Lockwood, who with his wife was here from San Francisco for the wedding, and Mrs. Michael O'Dea of Seaside. During the war he served as a Lieutenant of the Infantry in Germany.

Other out of town guests present for the ceremony were the bride's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Anton Vitkovich, and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bilhmier, of San Francisco.

Burr—those cold-foggy nights will soon be with us, and to keep you snug and warm HARRIET DUNCAN has a new selection of flannel robes and night gowns. They are of the finest Sanforized flannel and come in many plaids. The short robes are $5.95, in green and pink, and blue and yellow plaids; equally priced are the pajamas in a matching smaller check. There are also long sleeved nighties in pastel strips for only $4.95. For something especially exciting HARRIET DUNCAN has a mandarin type short nighgown in screaming red—see them and buy one (or maybe more) and the next chilly night you'll be so happy you did.

Don't let your knitting needles get the best of you—have Mrs. Kopke or Mrs. Kraul of KAY'S KNITTING KLINIC help you with those annoying problems that are the hex of most knitters. With much enthusiasm we looked at the beautiful new Botany matched yarn and flannel (enough for a skirt or jacket) as well as the equally lovely shades of dress, sock, sweater, and afghan yarns. It is nice to know that all of the yarns are No-Dye-Lot Yarn which means that regardless how often you reorder a color it will always be the same with no variations of shade. KAY'S KNITTING KLINIC will also block and sew your knit dress for you, along with free help and instruction as you work. KAY'S KNITTING KLINIC is a cozy and friendly spot at Lincoln and Seventh, just above the Spectator office.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH
"The thoughts of the righteous are right; but the counsels of the wicked are deceit" (Proverbs 12:5). This is the Golden Text for the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science churches on Sunday, October 2. The subject is "Unreality." Included in the sermon are the following citations:

The Bible: "And the Lord had respect unto Abel and to his offering: But unto Cain and to his offering he had not respect. And Cain was very wroth, and his countenance fell. And Cain talked with Abel his brother: and it came to pass, when they were in the field, that Cain rose up against Abel, his brother, and slew him" (Genesis 4:4, 5, 8).

"Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Will—blind, stubborn, and headlong—cooperates with appetite and passion. From this cooperation arises its evil. From this also comes its powerlessness, since all power belongs to God, good" (p. 490).

PUTNAM AND RAGGETT have a marvelous new style item in their pinwale-corduroy yardage. It is from the Crompton-Richmond mills who make the country's finest corduroys. The colors are wonderful—some many of them—such as sand, white, forest green, dark brown, turkey red, maize, cloud gray, light navy, pink, turquoise, and toast. This corduroy is definitely washable and makes up into smart jackets and skirts as well as children's clothes—it wears beautifully and is 36 inches wide. Now for the amazing fact—this all purpose corduroy is only $1.79 a yard!! PUTNAM AND RAGGETT only, have this exceptional buy.

MAC'S POULTRY SHOP on Mission street has a very special treat for all of you turkey lovers (and who isn't?)—fryer and hen turkeys—they are not always obtainable—so try one. For this weekend MAC'S POULTRY SHOP has special fricassee chickens for 37 cents a pound. There's nothing so good as fricassee chicken and dumplings. John Brockdorff Leaves

John Brockdorff, a resident of Carmel for the past three years and an instructor at the Language School at the Presidio, is leaving for his native Denmark, where he expects to spend about a year and a half. He will head first for his parents' home in Copenhagen, which he has not seen in ten years.

John says that although he's anxious to see Denmark again, he hates to leave Carmel and plans to return at the earliest opportunity. He will miss especially his activities in the Ski Club, which he was instrumental in organizing.

Swimming Tour

Francis and Elayne Whitaker recently spent five days on what can only be described as a tour of the swimming possibilities existing in Central and Northern California. They sampled the Walker, Trinity, Eel and American Rivers, and when those weren't at hand, managed to time their drives so that they arrived in time to swim in any likely swimming pool. Sounds hectic, but they insist it was a restful and relaxing trip.

Charles Sweeney's Return

Dr. and Mrs. Charles Sweeney arrived by plane last week from Portland, Oregon, to take up residence again in the home they built in Carmel almost 25 years ago. The Sweeneys originally lived part of each year in Carmel at in Medford, Oregon, and spent a their place on north Dolores street. Now Mrs. Sweeney's dream has been realized, and they will live here permanently.

Dr. Sweeney, well known in Oregon medical circles, is a former officer of the Oregon State Medical Association.

Statement of the Ownership, Management, Circulation, etc., Required by the Act of Congress of August 24, 1912, as Amended by the Acts of March 3, 1933, and July 2, 1946, of published weekly at Carmel, California, for 1949.
CARMEL PINE CONE-CYMBAL

County of Monterey, ss.

State of California,
Before me, George P. Ross, a Notary Public in and for the State and county aforesaid, personally appeared Clifford H. Cook, who, having been duly sworn according to law, deposes and says that he is the publisher and owner of The Carmel Pine Cone Cymbal and that the following is, to the best of his knowledge and belief, a true statement of the ownership, management, etc., of the publication for the date shown in the above caption, required by the act of August 24, 1912, as amended by the acts of March 3, 1933, and July 2, 1946 (section 537, Postal Laws and Regulations), printed on the reverse of this form, to wit:

1. That the names and addresses of the publisher, editor, managing editor, and business managers are:
Publisher, Clifford H. Cook, Box G-1, Carmel, California.

Editor, Wilma B. Cook, same.
Business manager, Clifford H. Cook, same.

2. That the owner is: (If owned by a corporation, its name and address must be stated and also immediately thereunder the names and address of stockholders owning or holding one per cent or more of total amount of stock. If not owned by a corporation, the names and addresses of the individual owners must be given. If owned by a firm, company, or other unincorporated concern, its name and address, as well as those of each individual member, must be given.)

Clifford H. and Wilma B. Cook, Box G-1, Carmel, California.

3. That the known bondholders, mortgagees, and other security holders owning or holding 1 per cent or more of total amount of bonds, mortgages, or other securities are: (If there are none, so state.) None.

4. That the two paragraphs next above, giving the names of the owners, stockholders, and security holders, if any, cover not only the list of stockholders and security holders as they appear upon the books of the company but also, in cases where the stockholder or security holder appears upon the books of the company as trustee or in any other fiduciary relation, the name of the person or corporation for whom such trustee is acting, is given; also that the said two paragraphs contain statements embracing affiant's full knowledge and belief as to the circumstances and conditions under which stockholders and security holders who do not appear upon the books of the company as trustees, hold stock and securities in a capacity other than that of a bona fide owner; and this affiant has no reason to believe that any other person, association, or corporation has any interest direct or indirect in the said stock, bonds, or other securities than as so stated by him.

5. That the average number of copies of each issue of this publication sold or distributed, through the mails or otherwise, to paid subscribers during the twelve months preceding the date shown above is 3500. (This information is required from daily, weekly, semi-weekly, and triweekly newspapers only.)

CLIFFORD H. COOK.

Sworn to and subscribed before me this 29 day of September, 1949.

Pine Needles ...

Welcome Terrence

Another young Mosolf, Terrence Dan, opened his eyes to the big, round, beautiful world for the first time Sunday, September 25, at the Community Hospital at 4 a.m. He is the third son and fifth child of High School Athletic Director George Mosolf and Mrs. Mosolf. At home on the welcoming committee are brothers and sisters: Mike, 12; Susie, 8; Pat, 5, and Timmie, nearly 3.

Ortha Klinker in Town

Miss Ortha Klinker is spending a combined vacation of work and play in Carmel as the house guest of Colonel and Mrs. John Gans of Scenic Drive.

Miss Klinker is an internationally known artist and is recognized as a top-ranking exponent of the fine arts of painting and etching. Her paintings and etchings have been widely exhibited and reproduced, and she has been the recipient of numerous honors for her achievements in the field of art.

She makes her home in Los Angeles with her brother, Zeno Klinker, who as chief script writer for Edgar Bergen is responsible for much of the calculated impertinence of Charlie McCarthy and the contrived dumbness of Mortimer Snerd.

Miss Klinker finds Carmel a fascinating place to visit and a challenging place to paint.

Mrs. Law's Birthday

Friends of Mrs. Nora M. Law deluged her with flowers on her birthday last Sunday, sending all sorts of choice blooms, potted plants and even an orchid.

A happy surprise for her was a visit from her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon H. Graham of Berkeley, who further surprised her with an excellent roast venison dinner.

Dr. Billie's Garden

By L. A. W.

It's "clarin-up time" in the vegetable garden these days. It pays, I find, to get the old vines and tops out of the way to keep bugs and other varmits from breeding. If the stuff can be buried that's all to the good. Helps to keep the place looking a little less unsightly, too.

Take the bean vines for instance. They have done their job—and a good one it was this year. No use in letting them all dry up and shed their leaves to blow all over the place. So, dig a trench along by the side of the row, about a foot deep, pull up the vines and throw them ... In that way the traces of nitrogen and other elements the plants took out of the air go into the soil and help next season's crop to grow. Bean vines decay rapidly and make first class humus. Yes, of course you cover the dirt over the vines.

Berry vines get unsightly, too, after the fruit is gone. Besides the old canes will not bear next year and simply take up room and plant food. So, out they come—cut, don't pull. There's always a lot of suckers and weakling new plants that have to come out. I was pretty generous with water this year and there is a good stand of tall, sturdy new canes. The tops of them will have to be cut back so the plants are about four feet, or so, tall.

All this stuff would make good compost but I have to burn it or have it carted away. It disintegrates so slowly that my limited space for compost has to be used for cabbage leaves, beet and carrot tops, old lettuce plants and such.

Well, that just gives you a gen-

Mrs. Ida Jordan

Carmel lost one of its beloved old time residents with the death of Mrs. Ida Jordan, wife of the late John B. Jordan, first mayor of Carmel. Mrs. Jordan died September 21 at her home at Casanova and Ocean.

A member of the Carmel Woman's Club, Mrs. Jordan was in close contact with civic activities for many of the 22 years she lived here. She had been in failing health for some time.

Surviving her are a son, Jack Jordan of Los Altos, and two sisters, Mrs. Ada Tregloan of Berkeley and Mrs. Edith L. Needham of Carmel. Services were held last Friday at the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea Crematorium by Dr. K. Fillmore Gray. Arrangements were made through Paul's Mortuary.

Easier dish washing...you'll find the secret in petroleum

It may seem like a long trip to your dishpan, but a good share of the "soapless soaps" you use started deep in the earth in an oil well.

These new cleaners, called detergents, actually make water "wetter" . . . attract dirt and grease almost like a magnet. They make dishes sparkle, work well with all fabrics in hard or soft water, clean cars, and they have many other home and industrial uses.

The practical means of making detergents from oil came out of Standard of California research . . . by risking substantial sums for experimentation and development. The results: new products to make your work easier, new manufacturing and selling jobs, a company better able to serve you and all the West.
